

(Feb.23, 2018) - JKLM Energy, LLC (JKLM) would like to inform the public of a reported incident on February 22 regarding a Sweden Township citizen concerned about combustible gas in private well water. JKLM and its environmental consultants responded immediately by visiting the residence, cooperated with local emergency responders, and determined there was no detection of combustible gas. As noted in the attached report, a Water Quality Specialist from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) also determined no detection of combustible gas.

Furthermore, JKLM does not operate natural gas wells in the immediate vicinity of the residence, and there was no incident of any kind related to JKLM activities in Potter County.
